CHAPTER 4: MOBILITY TO RESIDE IN ANOTHER COUNTRY OF THE EUROPEAN UNION

The Diputación Foral de Bizkaia presents this GUIDE OF MOBILITY 2016 with the aim of providing citizens living in this historical territory with practical and helpful information about the opportunities that the European Single Market brings to them.

It contains information about our rights to move across the Union: short-term stays, temporary and permanent residence, employment and self-employment, study and other rights.

In this English summary, the main issues concerning the mobility rights of the EU citizens are set out, including residence matters, study and work opportunities.

The guide is structured in 4 chapters:

► Chapter 1: it explains the European Single Market, its concept and what rights are EU citizens entitled to.

► Chapter 2: it includes information regarding opportunities to work in another EU country and in the European Public Function (EU institutions and bodies).

► Chapter 3: it gives practical information about the different EU programmes in the field of Education and Training.

► Chapter 4: here you can find the most important links to information from national sources regarding residence requirements, rights, certificates, permits and cards in order to live and work in each EU country.
I. WHAT IS THE EUROPEAN SINGLE MARKET?

The European Single Market is an ambitious project aimed at the creation of a “single economic area”. The methodology proposed is based on the so called “four freedoms” and the basic principle of NON DISCRIMINATION on the grounds of origin or nationality:

1. FREE MOVEMENT OF GOODS
2. FREE MOVEMENT OF PEOPLE
3. FREEDOM TO PROVIDE SERVICES
4. FREE MOVEMENT OF CAPITALS

EUROPEAN SINGLE MARKET – EUROPEAN ECONOMIC AREA

II. WHAT RIGHTS INCLUDES MOBILITY IN THE EUROPEAN UNION?

Mobility of persons within the European Union is settled on some rights that, as a whole, are the grounds for the NON-DISCRIMINATION and the elimination of barriers and obstacles to movements across the EU.

Union citizens’ rights on mobility are:

- Right to entry into another Member State without any specific requirement. All Union citizens have the right to enter another Member State by virtue of having an identity card or valid passport. Their right to entry can only be restricted on grounds of public policy, public security or public health.

- Right to live, reside and settle in any EU Member State. For stays of less than three months, the only requirement on Union citizens is that they possess a valid identity document or passport. The right of residence for more than three months remains subject to certain conditions, and Member States may require Union citizens to register with the competent authorities within a period of not less than three months as from the date of arrival and obtain a registration certificate. After a five-year period of uninterrupted legal residence, Union citizens acquire the right of permanent residence in the host Member State.

- Right to work and obtain a retirement pension in any EU Member State. Union migrant workers are entitled to be treated as nationals of their new country. This means they are entitled to the same benefits as native workers. Their pensions will be exported, independently of how long they have been living there.

- Right to study in any EU Member State. University or educational institutions have to accept the application of students from another EU country in identical conditions as the nationals of their new country. Family members of a Union citizen are entitled to study in their new country.

CHAPTER 2: MOBILITY TO WORK IN THE EUROPEAN UNION

I. RIGHT TO WORK IN ANOTHER EU COUNTRY

Citizens that move from their country to another European Union country are entitled to the following rights in the host country:

1. Any EU citizen has the same right to work in another EU country as nationals of that country under the same conditions and without having to apply for a work permit.

2. No restrictions – quantitative limits or discriminatory recruitment criteria – can be placed on the recruitment of nationals of other EU countries.

3. Any EU national has the right to look for a job in another EU country, receive the same assistance from the national employment offices as nationals of their host country and stay in the host country for a period long enough to look for work, apply for a job and be recruited.

4. Jobseekers cannot be expelled if they prove that they are continuing to seek employment and have a genuine chance of finding a job.

1) Europass is a set of five documents to make your skills and qualifications clearly and easily understood in Europe:

- Two documents freely accessible, completed by European citizens:
  - the Curriculum Vitae.
  - the Language Passport.

- Three documents issued by education and training authorities:
  - the Europass Mobility records the knowledge and skills acquired in another European country;
  - the Certificate Supplement describes the knowledge and skills acquired by holders of vocational education and training certificates;
  - the Diploma Supplement describes the knowledge and skills acquired by holders of higher education degrees.
2) Recognition of professional qualifications.

Union citizens who want to practice their profession or provide services in another EU country may need to declare their professional qualifications or have them recognized, depending on the duration of the stay:

- Temporary mobility -> you might need to declare your professional qualifications if your profession has public health or safety implications.

- Permanent mobility -> it is regulated by the Directive 2005/36. This directive considers three systems of recognition of qualifications:
  - Automatic recognition for seven specific professions -> architects, dentists, doctors, midwives, nurses, pharmacists and veterinary surgeons.
  - General system for most of professions.
  - Recognition based on professional experience for craft, commerce or industry sector.

It is advisable to consult the regulated professions database:

http://ec.europa.eu/growth/tools-databases/regprof/

In 2013, a new Directive modified the Directive 2005/36 in order to improve mobility of workers introducing the European Professional Card, which is expected to be fully in force by 2016.

European Union develops its activity thanks to a range of institutions and other bodies that safeguard the progress of the communitarian integration of the Member States.

The countries that make up the EU (‘Member States’) remain independent sovereign nations but they pool their sovereignty in order to gain strength and world influence, none of them could have on their own. Pooling sovereignty means, in practice, that Member States delegate some of their decision-making powers to shared institutions they have created, so that decisions on specific matters of joint interest can be made democratically at European level.

There are two types of employment within the EU civil service:

- “PERMANENT OFFICIALS”: permanent staff that have passed a competition based on either qualifications or tests, or both qualifications and tests.
- “OTHER SERVANTS”: non-permanent staff engaged in a post with a contract for a determined period of time.

To be eligible to apply for an open competition or selection procedure you must:

- be a citizen of an EU country,
- have fulfilled any obligations by the laws concerning military service,
- offer moral guarantees to do your functions,
- have physical aptitudes to do your functions,
- have thorough knowledge of one of the official EU languages and satisfactory knowledge of a second one – at least one of which must be English, French or German-.

You must also meet any specific requirements set out in the relevant “competition notice” or “call for expression of interest” regarding qualifications and professional experience.

Not all the recruitment processes of European Civil Servants are managed by the European Personnel Selection Office (EPSO). The EPSO is in charge of the recruitment processes that take place in the following European Institutions:

- European Parliament,
- Council of the European Union,
- European Commission,
- European Court of Justice,
- Court of Auditors,
- Advisory bodies,
- Other specialized bodies.

European Central Bank, European Investment Bank and European Investment Fund have their own selection procedures and are not managed by EPSO.

Agencies and other decentralized bodies of the EU can propose many different types of job opportunities, most of them for specialists, even when there are no open competitions. They also can contract candidates from the list of reserve of the EPSO (CAST database).
The format of the selection procedures varies depending on the type of contract and the profile being sought. Each competition is announced by a “competition notice”, giving full details of the profile, the eligibility criteria and the selection procedure.

Generally, it takes 5-9 months to complete the selection procedure, starting from the date of publication of the notice. The EU institutions select candidates for permanent contracts through open competitions. These are tests and assessment exercises designed to measure the professional skills and a number of core competencies, normally divided in two phases: admission and assessment.
